Teenagers today are busier than ever. Between school, homework, part-time jobs, and social media, many teens find it difficult to live a healthy lifestyle. However, staying healthy during these years is extremely important. Good habits built in adolescence often continue into adulthood.

Experts say that teenagers should sleep for about eight to ten hours every night. Unfortunately, most teens get only six or seven hours of sleep. Lack of sleep can make it hard to concentrate in class and can even lead to stress or mood problems. To stay healthy, teens should avoid using their phones late at night and try to go to bed at the same time every day.

Eating habits are another key part of health. Many young people skip breakfast or eat fast food because they are in a hurry. Nutritionists suggest that a balanced diet should include fruits, vegetables, whole grains, and enough water.

Exercise is also important. Teens should do at least 60 minutes of physical activity each day. It could be walking, playing sports, or simply dancing to music. Staying active helps not only the body but also the mind.

Healthy living isn't about being perfect; it's about making small, smart choices every day.

1. What is the main idea of the passage?
A. Teenagers should focus only on doing exercise.
B. Teenagers are too busy to care about their health.

4. According to the passage, what do many teens do because they are in a hurry?

- A. Sleep more hours
 B. Skip breakfast
 C. Drink a lot of water
 D. Avoid using phones
5. What do experts suggest about sleep?
 A. Teens should sleep for six hours.
 B. Teens should sleep for about eight to ten hours.
 C. Teens should stay up late for homework.
 D. Teens should use their phones before sleeping.
6. Which of the following statements is TRUE?
 A. Exercise only helps the body, not the mind.
 B. Teens should eat more fast food to save time and have more energy.
 C. Staying active is good for both body and mind.
 D. Communities become stronger when people care for each other.
