Mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best arrangement of utterances or sentences to make a cohesive and coherent exchange or text in each of the following questions from 1 to 5.

- Question 1.
- a. Initial results were impressive, as villagers reported broadband speeds comparable to city standards with significantly improved reliability.
  - b. For years, the isolated villages of central Marsh County struggled with unreliable copper cables that could not handle increasing bandwidth demands.
  - c. Consequently, the local council, partnering with two providers, committed to laying fibre optic cables to every household within a year.
  - d. To minimise disruption, cables were placed along existing verges, while community halls served as temporary installation hubs.
  - e. Encouraged by the villagers' satisfaction, neighbouring counties have requested guidance on adopting the model for their remote villages.

A. d - a - e - c - b    B. e - b - a - c - d    C. a - e - d - b - c    D. b - c - d - a - e

- Question 2.
- a. Diner: Excuse me, I've been waiting so long for my order.
  - b. Diner: Thanks for your help.
  - c. Waiter: I'm sorry! I'll check with the kitchen and get back to you immediately.

A. a - b - c    B. c - b - a    C. b - c - a    D. a - c - b

- Question 3.
- Dear Ms Hoang,
- a. A payment of $5,000 will be released in the beginning, and the remaining balance after the submission of your mid-term report.
  - b. Failure to respond by the stated date will result in the offer being granted to the next qualified candidate.
  - c. We are delighted to inform you that you have been awarded the Young Researcher Grant.
  - d. To confirm your acceptance, please sign the attached form and submit it by 31 August.
  - e. The funding is intended to support your fieldwork and must not be used for equipment purchases without prior approval.

Yours sincerely,

A. c - a - b - d - e    B. c - a - b - e - d    C. c - e - a - d - b    D. c - b - e - d - a

- Question 4.
- a. Customer: What if I don't keep the original packaging?
  - b. Customer: Great. I'll bring the item and receipt tomorrow.
  - c. Customer: I'd like to exchange the electric fan I bought yesterday.
  - d. Manager: Sold items can be exchanged within five days, but we don't give refunds.
  - e. Manager: No problem, only your receipt is needed.

A. a - d - c - e - b    B. a - e - c - d - b    C. c - d - a - e - b    D. c - e - a - d - b

- Question 5.
- a. Inhabitants of coastal regions housing large-scale facilities have reported that the low hum of the constant rotation impairs their sleep quality.
  - b. Nevertheless, the argument for transitioning is not entirely convincing when the implications for residents in the immediate vicinity are taken into account.
  - c. With the infrastructure in place, operational expenditures of wind mills are substantially lower than those of coal or gas facilities.
  - d. Wind power has been promoted as a notably clean and economically viable substitute for fossil fuels.
  - e. Progress on a country's renewable targets necessitates balancing each proposed initiative against the burdens imposed upon local populations.

A. d - c - b - a - e    B. c - e - d - b - a    C. e - b - a - c - d    D. a - d - c - e - b

Read the passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 6 to 15.

Environmental services, even when they arise without any human labour, are by no means cost-free. Every cost should be understood in terms of opportunity cost. For environmental services, the opportunity cost amounts to the net gain relinquished because the resources are no longer available for their second-best application. Whenever a resource has alternative uses, it cannot legitimately be deemed free.

For instance, a section of river might serve as a site used for either white-water canoeing or hydroelectric generation. Constructing a dam to produce electricity would flood the rapids, so this makes white-water canoeing here out of the question. The opportunity cost of preserving the river for canoeing equals the net benefit of the electricity that would otherwise have been produced, once the expenses of generation and distribution have been subtracted. By the same token, the opportunity cost of erecting the dam involves everything the river in its natural state would have provided – leisure activities, wildlife, scenic beauty, and whatever worth future generations might attach to experiencing the rapids.

This understanding carries considerable weight for planning development. [I] Numerous decisions initially appearing to be cost-free moves in favour of growth prove, when examined carefully, to be against something else. [II] Clearing a forest to make way for crops is hardly without cost; it is paid for through losses in carbon storage, biological diversity, and all the functions the forest once performed unnoticed. [III] Channelling a river for irrigation has its price – namely, whatever the river was doing before its course was altered. [IV] Even leaving a swathe of land alone exacts a cost, since the earnings that intensive exploitation might have produced are equally sacrificed.

From this perspective, economic development can never be reduced to whether a project delivers a positive return. Rather, what must be asked is whether that return outweighs the value of sacrifices. Policies considering this – by pricing scarce environmental services, or obliging those in charge to consider both sides – are not against development. What they demand is that development should be worth its true cost. The danger lies not in counting too much, but in counting too little.

Question 6. The word relinquished in paragraph 1 is closest in meaning to _____.
A. given up      B. filled up      C. made up      D. ended up

Question 7. According to paragraph 1, the costs of environmental services are _____.
A. existent even in the absence of human involvement
B. determined by financial investment in natural resources
C. included in the market value of natural resources
D. minimal because these services are nearly labour-free

Question 8. Which of the following is NOT implied in paragraph 2?
A. The intrinsic value of the river is not confined to generating hydroelectricity only.
B. The strains on the ecosystem of the river imposed by recreational activities and power generation are similar.
C. Intangible benefits also constitute the opportunity cost of the dam construction.
D. It is impossible to exploit one stretch of river for both hydroelectric generation and white-water canoeing.

Question 9. Where in paragraph 3 does the following sentence best fit?
Such hidden costs only come to light when one stops to think about the roles nature itself is quietly playing.
A. [II]      B. [IV]      C. [III]      D. [I]

Question 10. Which of the following best summarises paragraph 3?
A. Untouched and cultivated lands both produce benefits in the long term.
B. Ecological preservation exerts negligible influence on economic development.
C. Economic benefits should never take precedence over forest and river preservation.
D. Apparently harmless developments actually come at an underlying price.

Question 11. The word they in paragraph 4 refers to _____.
A. policies      B. sacrifices      C. sides      D. services

Question 12. What conclusion can be drawn from paragraph 4?
A. Putting a price on environmental services is aimed at slowing down economic projects.
B. Due consideration for opportunity costs is crucial for the genuine success of development.
C. Both excessive caution and complete ignorance regarding environmental costs cause permanent damage.
D. Initiatives are required by law to deduct the hidden costs before claiming to have a positive return.

Question 13. Which of the following is true according to the passage?
A. Cost-free resources can be put to alternative uses as long as this is legally permitted.
B. Assigning a specific price tag to a resource is a prerequisite for calculating opportunity costs.
C. The positive return of every economic development must be worth what is sacrificed.
D. Keeping land intact is free of opportunity cost as there is no resource consumption.

Question 14. Which of the following can be inferred from the passage?
A. The value of preserved environmental services far outweighs the benefits of industrial development.
B. Decisions that overlook environmental opportunity costs risk overestimating the net gains they produce.
C. The scale of economic development inevitably suffers from strict regulations on environmental services.
D. Projects are mandated to make up for the economic losses in return for environmental preservation.

Question 15. Which of the following would be the best title for the passage?
A. Sustainable Development: A Pipe Dream      B. Natural Preservation: Ushering in a New Era
C. Development: Factoring in Sacrifices      D. Environment: A Tower of Strength

GREEN HANDS CAMPAIGN

The School Youth Union is officially launching the "Green Hands" eco-friendly campaign. We invite every student to participate in this vital project. If everyone (16)_____ together, we will make a difference at our school.

The primary goal is to expand students' (17) _____ of plastic pollution. To achieve this, the school will have colour-coded bins (18) _____ in the schoolyard. Also, waste-disposal workshops will be held to teach students to (19) _____ out plastics properly. These sessions ensure resources are reused effectively.

We aim to (20) _____ sustainable habits through consistent daily activities. We firmly believe that small individual efforts will turn into long-lasting changes.

Volunteers will help remove plastics from every corner of the schoolyard. Please sign up online. Your (21) _____ is essential for success. Don't miss out – join hands with us today!

Read the passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 22 to 29.

For decades, students have been convinced that academic success is largely dependent upon meticulous notetaking. What has changed in recent years is not the importance of the practice but the tools used to perform it. The keyboard has subtly supplanted the pen, and with it, the nature of how information is recorded during a lecture has shifted unbeknownst to students.

Researchers in cognitive psychology have begun to examine what this change has cost learners. In a series of comparative studies, students taking notes by hand consistently outperformed those using laptops on questions that demanded conceptual understanding, even when both groups had access to the same material. The reason, according to the researchers, lies less in the technology itself than in what each method asks of the brain. Typing rewards speed; handwriting forces selection.

The act of writing by hand is slower, and that slowness appears to be its hidden virtue. Unable to capture every word, students are obliged to listen, decide what matters and condense ideas into their own phrasing. This continuous filtering, referred to as encoding by psychologists, turns out to be instrumental in aiding long-term recall. One lecturer summarised the striking contrast after reviewing her students' work: the laptops, she said, had produced transcripts, while the notebooks had produced understanding.

It would be misleading, of course, to claim that handwriting is inherently superior or that all keyboards undermine learning. Hard-working typists can summarise, while indolent writers can drift. What the research highlights is not a conclusion on devices but a question about effort: which tool, in a given context, asks more of the learner. As a ban on students' use of laptops in classrooms remains a bone of contention among tertiary institutions, the deeper challenge may be helping students recognise that what feels easier in the moment is not always what serves them best afterwards.

Question 22. In paragraph 1, the writer is _____.

- A. questioning the significance of notetaking in education
B. introducing a recent change in the way students take notes
C. promoting the use of technology in recording lectures
D. challenging a long-held assumption about academic success

Question 23. The word those in paragraph 2 refers to _____.

- A. students B. researchers C. notes D. studies

Question 24. Which of the following best paraphrases the underlined sentence in paragraph 2?

- A. The difference in student performance is attributable to the modern technology instead of the mental work that each method of notetaking requires.
B. What explains the difference in student performance is the mental work that each method of notetaking demands, rather than the technology.
C. The modern device, along with the mental requirements of each method for the brain, is responsible for the difference in student performance.
D. Regardless of the method of notetaking, the effects on the brain exhibit little difference as long as technology is involved in student performance.

Question 25. The word instrumental in paragraph 3 is OPPOSITE in meaning to _____.

- A. specific B. trivial C. dramatic D. central Question 26. The word indolent in paragraph 4 is closest in meaning to _____.

- A. serious B. active C. lazy D. careful

Question 27. Which of the following statements would the writer NOT agree with?

- A. Handwritten and typed notes led to varied degrees of conceptual understanding.
B. Students are unaware of the change in notetaking methods in class.
C. The slow speed of writing by hand turns out to be an advantage over typing.
D. Universities generally approve of prohibiting laptop use in classrooms.

Question 28. In which paragraph does the writer mention a cognitive process?

- A. Paragraph 1      B. Paragraph 4      C. Paragraph 2      D. Paragraph 3

Question 29. In which paragraph does the writer warn against an overgeneralisation?

- A. Paragraph 2      B. Paragraph 1      C. Paragraph 3      D. Paragraph 4

Money has many ironies, and here is an important one: wealth is what you do not see. On spotting a Ferrari driving around, (36)_____. In reality, however, many drivers of expensive cars turn out to be only mediocre successes who spend a huge percentage of their paycheck on a vehicle. Someone driving a hundred-thousand-dollar car might indeed be wealthy. Yet the only firm data point you have about their wealth is that they have a hundred thousand dollars less than they did before they bought the car or a hundred thousand dollars more in debt. (37)_____.

We tend to judge wealth by what we see (38)_____. We cannot peer into people's bank accounts or brokerage statements, so we rely on outward appearances to gauge financial success: cars, houses, photographs on social media. Modern capitalism has turned helping people fake it until they make it into a cherished industry. (39)_____. Wealth hides in the nice car not purchased, the diamonds left in the shop and the first-class upgrade declined. Wealth is the financial assets that have not yet been converted into the stuff you see.

Hence, we should be careful (40)_____. It is more than mere semantics; not knowing the difference is the source of countless poor money decisions.
